

Oor Brate Golfers.

Didna Hae a Chance T' Gaither Themsels.

It doesna appear fra' the papers that the golfers fra' Salt Lake were veectorious in their contest wi' the putters o' Butte. But there's mair ahind the defeat than would apeer on the surface, f'r its tould that the coorse was covered wi' thistles and filled wi' gulches and the Buttes didna fernish oor laddies wi' a blue print. The consequence was that the ba' was oot o' sicht maist o' the time, and aifter twa drives in the hollows a caddie couldna be fund wi' a telescope.

This condection garr'd oor champions t' heet the ba' while hanging t' a crag b' the collar o' the jacket, and maist o' the time when they faumed f'r a stymle they would brak the brassie on a hot boulder.

Sandy McHale, who was galed wi' red, had a stymle in the eye, which was remoooved by Doctor McProbe aifter drive number sex hundred and sixty twa.

McGurra performed like the grand Scot he is, and was aye skillful wi' the Loch Pherson stroke. Befaire leaving he was hit i' the shou'nder wi' a bunker, which caused him to grat wi' pain in making his address t' the ba'.

There was muckle trouble f'r McOfficer on acc'unt o' his centerest in sil'er and aither builion. During his contest wi' Mester McCase he fund a piece o' copper on the niks and stopped t' assay it. It was afterwards learned that it was a wee bit Paris green which had been left there by Mester McHeinze for Senator McClark. Dooring the investigations Mr. McCase had gained a lead o' twa hundred, which the assayer couldna overcome.

In the ferst r'und Mr. McSatterlee was screed b' Mester McRoe, but it was generally conceded that McSatterlee was veectimized f'r appearing on the links wi'oot his gloves, which mad him nairvous "to a degree."

Mester McHolman mad a magneeficent appearance, but his knees were aye steef on acc'unt o' the brattle breezes o' Copperville.

Remairkable skeel was exheebited by Mr. McHairness, which was no essential, syn he was ta'ken to Butte f'r the defection o' the lassies, wha er'uded ar'und the pride o' Zion (they didna ken he was mairried), carrying smelling sa'ts and aither restoratives in case he fractured ain o' his graceful cairves wi' a niblick.

Mester McSteiner did battle wi' Mester McCory, wha mad peecturs along the route, but his puts were nae strong enough f'r his antagonest. Therebye, golf isna the occ-pation f'r a Gairman, wha is generally much more adept wi' a Blamack brick than a golf ba'.

But the work o' Chief McCopp was very superior, and his claymore clove the tairtan o' Mester McGreen, wha haana been an amachoor syn the days o' Bonnie Prince Charley. The nairvousness o' Mester McCopp loosened the links o' the golf coorse, but the damage is noo repaired. It was conseddered fortunate that he didna shak d'un ony o' the wires o' the Associated Press, and aifter the engagement his queey-erin' hand was graspt by a' the braw Hoelanders wha cou'd locate it.

All t'goether it was a bonnie game, and it is the unanimous opeenion o' Mester McCopp that when the Butte laddies veest us next year, they will hae the impression when the claymores are sheathed that they hae been ambooshed in the field o' Bannockburn.

We are proud of our Clear Creek Coal.

If you have tried it you know why.

If you have not, it is to your interest to do so.

A household treasure is a good cook, but those who are acknowledged experts won't use anything but Clear Creek coal.

The wisest consumers order Castle Gate or Clear Creek Coal.

There is none better.

One pound Hurd's Holland Linen, royal size, with 50 envelopes to match, for 75c at Derges.

We want to please you.

How?

By giving you Clear Creek Coal.

Why?

Because we want your trade.

Dissentions about coal prove the fact that there is only one point of dissention about the Castle Gate, and that is just how much longer a ton will burn than any other coal you can procure.
